

AMERICAN NATIONAL UNION

The American National Union constantly campaigns to improve pay, benefits and working conditions throughout all industries. We also offer members support if you run into problems, ethical guidelines to help you make those tough decisions, advice on pensions, health and safety.

You may be a business owner, press officer, communications officer/manager, public and media relations officer/director, public relations consultant, photographer, copywriter, editor of an in-house or corporate journal, a web editor, media trainer or creative artist working editorially in the media or PR, we also offer a freedom of the press card.

We also know many professionals work in isolation or small teams under very difficult conditions. Savage job cuts at many organizations have left fewer people forced to do more work and we support members whose employers treat them unfairly. We also have expertise in industry pay levels – a crucial factor when negotiating salaries.

A guide to the rights and wrongs of PR practice: We also realize many former newspaper, magazine and broadcast journalists are now working in PR, reflecting today's changing working environment. We understand the implications of this and regardless of what industry you are in we are here to support you with the power of this American National Union.

You can add to that list of career-changing networking opportunities, tailored training and the opportunity to be involved in this organization, the American National Union, recognized as the voice of those people who are entrepreneurs in any profession, we support the creation of new sub-unions and associations.

If you work in public relations or any industry and are not yet a member of the ANU, join us. Download our recruitment flyer for Business owners and workers here:
